DISCOVERY MATTER

ORDER TO STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER

22 Having considered the parties' pleadings on file to date, and the parties' 23 jointly submitted Stipulated Protective Order to govern the handling of information 24 and materials produced in the course of discovery or filed with the Court in this 25 action, the Court determines as follows:

26 GOOD CAUSE STATEMENT

27 It is the intent of the parties and the Court that information will not be 28

1 designated as confidential for tactical reasons in this case and that nothing shall be 2 designated without a good faith belief that there is good cause why it should not be 3 part of the public record of this case. Examples of confidential information that the 4 parties may seek to protect from unrestricted or unprotected disclosure include:

- 5 (a) Information that is the subject of a non-disclosure or 6 confidentiality agreement or obligation;
- 7 (b) The names, or other information tending to reveal the identity 8 of a party's supplier, designer, distributor, or customer;
- 9 (c) Agreements with third-parties, including license agreements, 10 distributor agreements, manufacturing agreements, design 11 agreements, development agreements, supply agreements, sales 12 agreements, or service agreements;
- 13 (d) Research and development information;
- 14 (e) Proprietary engineering or technical information, including 15 product design, manufacturing techniques, processing 16 information, drawings, memoranda and reports;
- 17 (f) Information related to budgets, sales, profits, costs, margins, 18 licensing of technology or designs, product pricing, or other 19 internal financial/accounting information, including non-public 20 information related to financial condition or performance and 21 income or other non-public tax information;
- 22 (g) Information related to internal operations including personnel 23 information;
- 24
- 25
- 26
- 27
- 28

- 1 (h) Information related to past, current and future product 2 development;
- 3 (i) Information related to past, current and future market analyses 4 and business and marketing development, including plans, 5 strategies, forecasts and competition; and 6
- 7 (j) Trade secrets (as defined by the jurisdiction in which the 8 information is located).

9
10 Unrestricted or unprotected disclosure of such confidential technical, 11 commercial or personal information would result in prejudice or harm to the 12 producing party by revealing the producing party's competitive confidential 13 information, which has been developed at the expense of the producing party and 14 which represents valuable tangible and intangible assets of that party.
15 Additionally, privacy interests must be safeguarded. Accordingly, the parties 16 respectfully submit that there is good cause for the entry of this Protective Order.

17 The parties agree, subject to the Court's approval, that the following terms 18 and conditions shall apply to this civil action.

19 1. Designated Material.

20 1.1 Information or material may be designated for confidential treatment 21 pursuant to this Protective Order by any party, person or entity producing or 22 lodging it in this action (the "Designating Party"), if: (a) produced or served, 23 formally or informally, pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or in 24 response to any other formal or informal discovery request in this action; and/or 25 (b) filed or lodged with the Court in connection with discovery-related 26 proceedings. All such information and material and all information or material 27 derived from it constitutes "Designated Material" under this Protective Order.
28

1 1.2 Unless and until otherwise ordered by the Court or agreed to in 2 writing by the parties, all Designated Materials designated under this Protective 3 Order shall be used by the parties and persons receiving such Designated 4 Materials solely for conducting the above-captioned litigation and any appellate 5 proceeding relating thereto. Designated Material shall not be used by any party 6 or person receiving them for any business or any other purpose. No party or 7 person shall disclose Designated Material to any other party or person not entitled 8 to receive such Designated Material under the specific terms of this Protective 9 Order. For purposes of this Protective Order, “disclose” or “disclosed” means to 10 show, furnish, reveal or provide, indirectly or directly, any portion of the 11 Designated Material or its contents, orally or in writing, including the original or 12 any copy of the Designated Material.

13 2. Access to Designated Materials.

14 2.1 Materials Designated “CONFIDENTIAL”: Subject to the limitations 15 set forth in this Protective Order, Designated Material may be marked 16 “CONFIDENTIAL” for the purpose of preventing the disclosure of information 17 or materials that the designating party in good faith believes is confidential.
 18 Before designating any specific information or material “CONFIDENTIAL,” the 19 Designating Party’s counsel shall make a good faith determination that the 20 information warrants protection under Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil 21 Procedure. Such information may include, but is not limited to:

22 (a) The financial performance or results of the Designating Party, 23 including without limitation income statements, balance sheets, cash flow 24 analyses, budget projections, and present value calculations;

25 (b) Corporate and strategic planning by the Designating Party, including 26 without limitation marketing plans, competitive intelligence reports, sales 27 projections and competitive strategy documents;

28 (c) Names, addresses, and other information that would identify

1 customers or prospective customers, or the distributors or prospective distributors
2 of the Designating Party;

3 (d) Technical data, research and development data, and any other 4 confidential commercial information, including but not limited to trade secrets of 5 the Designating Party;

6 (e) Information used by the Designating Party in or pertaining to its 7 trade or business, which information the Designating Party believes in good faith 8 has competitive value, which is not generally known to others and which the 9 Designating Party would not normally reveal to third parties except in 10 confidence, or has undertaken with others to maintain in confidence;

11 (f) Information which the Designating Party believes in good faith falls 12 within the right to privacy guaranteed by the laws of the United States or 13 California; and

14 (g) Information which the Designating Party believes in good faith to 15 constitute, contain, reveal or reflect proprietary, financial, business, technical, or 16 other confidential information.

17 (h) The fact that an item or category is listed as an example in this or 18 other sections of this Protective Order does not, by itself, render the item or 19 category discoverable.

20 2.1.0 Materials designated "CONFIDENTIAL" may be disclosed only to 21 the following Designees:

22 2.1.1 Persons who appear on the face of Designated Materials marked 23 "CONFIDENTIAL" as an author, addressee, or recipient thereof;

24 2.1.2 Counsel retained as outside litigation attorneys of record in this 25 action, and their respective associates, clerks, legal assistants, stenographic, 26 videographic and support personnel, and other employees of such outside 27 litigation attorneys, and organizations retained by such attorneys to provide 28 litigation support services in this action and the employees of said organizations.

1 “Counsel” explicitly excludes any in-house counsel whether or not they are 2 attorneys of record in this action.

3 2.1.3 Consultants, including non-party experts and consultants retained or 4 employed by Counsel to assist in the preparation of the case, to the extent they 5 are reasonably necessary to render professional services in this action, and subject 6 to the disclosure requirements of section 2.3. Each consultant must sign a 7 certification that he or she has read this Stipulated Protective Order, will abide by 8 its provisions, and will submit to the jurisdiction of this Court regarding the 9 enforcement of this Order’s provisions.

10 2.1.4 A party’s officers and/or employees, which may include in-house 11 counsel.

12 2.1.5 The Court, its clerks and secretaries, and any court reporter retained
13 to record proceedings before the Court;

14 2.2 Materials Designated “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ 15 EYES ONLY”: Subject to the limitations in this Protective Order, Designated 16 Materials may be marked “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES 17 ONLY” for the purpose of preventing the disclosure of information or materials 18 which, if disclosed to the receiving party, might cause competitive harm to the 19 Designating Party. Information and material that may be subject to this 20 protection includes, but is not limited to, technical and/or research and 21 development data, intellectual property, financial, marketing and other sales data, 22 and/or information having strategic commercial value pertaining to the 23 Designating Party’s trade or business. Nothing in paragraph 2.1 shall limit the 24 information or material that can be designated “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – 25 ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” under this paragraph. Before designating any 26 specific information “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES 27 ONLY,” the Designating Party’s counsel shall make a good faith determination 28 that the information warrants such protection.

1 2.2.0 Materials designated “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’
2 EYES ONLY” materials may be disclosed only to the following Designees:

3 2.2.1 Persons who appear on the face of Designated Materials marked
4 “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” as an author, 5 addressee, or recipient thereof;

6 2.2.2 Counsel for the parties to this action, as defined in section 2.1.2;

7 2.2.3 Consultants for the parties to this action, as defined in section 2.1.3; 8 and

9 2.2.4 The Court, its clerks and secretaries, and any court reporter retained
10 to record proceedings before the Court.

11 2.2.5 Court reporters retained to transcribe depositions.

12 2.3 If any party wishes to disclose information or materials designated 13 under this Protective Order as “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL,” “CONFIDENTIAL 14 – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” to any Consultant, it must first identify that 15 individual to the Counsel for the Designating Party and submit a Certification of 16 Consultant pursuant to Section 3. CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES
17 ONLY

18 2.4 Legal Effect of Designation. The designation of any information or 19 materials as “CONFIDENTIAL,” “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ 20 EYES ONLY” is intended solely to facilitate the conduct of this litigation.

21 Neither such designation nor treatment in conformity with such designation shall 22 be construed in any way as an admission or agreement by any party that the 23 Designated Materials constitute or contain any trade secret or confidential 24 information. Except as provided in this Protective Order, no party to this action 25 shall be obligated to challenge the propriety of any designation, and a failure to 26 do so shall not preclude a subsequent attack on the propriety of such designation.

27 2.5 Nothing herein in any way restricts the ability of the receiving party 28 to use “CONFIDENTIAL,” “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’

1 EYES ONLY” material produced to it in examining or cross-examining any 2 employee or consultant of the Designating Party.

3 2.6 The parties agree that the Plaintiff may be provided the alleged 4 infringers’ full identities, revenues, and gross profits numbers, notwithstanding 5 any party’s designation of documents showing such figures as 6 “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES 7 ONLY”. The parties further agree that additional alleged infringers revealed in 8 documents designated as “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – 9 ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” may be added to a lawsuit if the Court so allows.

10 3. Certificates Concerning Designated Materials. Each Consultant as 11 defined in section 2.1.3, to whom any Designated Materials will be disclosed 12 shall, prior to disclosure of such material, execute the Acknowledgement of 13 Stipulated Protective Order in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A. Counsel 14 who makes any disclosure of Designated Materials shall retain each executed 15 Acknowledgement of Stipulated Protective Order and shall circulate copies to all 16 Counsel for the opposing party concurrently with the identification of the 17 Consultant to the attorneys for the Designating Party pursuant to Section 2.3.

18 4. Use of Designated Materials by Designating Party. Nothing in this 19 Protective Order shall limit a Designating Party’s use of its own information or 20 materials, or prevent a Designating Party from disclosing its own information or 21 materials to any person. Such disclosure shall not affect any designations made 22 pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order, so long as the disclosure is made in 23 a manner that is reasonably calculated to maintain the confidentiality of the 24 information.

25 5. Manner of Designating Written Materials.

26 5.1 Documents, discovery responses and other written materials shall be 27 designated as “CONFIDENTIAL,” “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – 28 ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” whether in whole or in part, as follows.

1 5.2 The producing party shall designate materials by placing the legend
2 “CONFIDENTIAL,” “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES
3 ONLY” on each page so designated prior to production. If the first or cover page 4 of a multi-page document bears the legend “CONFIDENTIAL,” “HIGHLY 5 CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” the entire document shall be 6 deemed so designated, and the absence of marking each page shall not constitute 7 a waiver of the terms of this Order. If the label affixed to a computer disk 8 containing multiple files bears the legend “CONFIDENTIAL,” 9 “CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” the entire disk shall be 10 deemed so protected, and the absence of marking of each file shall not constitute 11 a waiver of the terms of this Order.

12 5.3 A designation of ““CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY 13 CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” as to any item, thing or 14 object that cannot otherwise be categorized as a document, shall be made: (1) by 15 placing the legend “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – 16 ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” on the thing, object or container within which it is 17 stored; or (2) by specifically identifying, in writing, the item and the level of 18 confidentiality designation, where such labeling is not feasible.

19 5.4 When a party wishes to designate as “CONFIDENTIAL,” or 20 “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” materials
21 produced by someone other than the Designating Party (a “Producing Party”), 22 such designation shall be made:

23 5.4.1 Within fifteen (15) business days from the date that the Designating 24 Party receives copies of the materials from the producing or disclosing entity; and 25 5.4.2 By notice to all parties to this action and to the Producing Party, if 26 such party is not a party to this action, identifying the materials to be designated 27 with particularity (either by production numbers or by providing other adequate 28 identification of the specific material). Such notice shall be sent by facsimile and 1 regular mail.

2 5.4.3. A party shall be permitted to designate as “CONFIDENTIAL,” or 3 “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” material produced 4 by a Producing Party only where:

5 a. The material being produced was provided to or developed by such 6 Producing Party: (i) under a written confidentiality agreement with the Designating 7 Party; or (ii) within a relationship with the Designating Party (or a party operating 8 under the control thereof) in which confidentiality is imposed by law (including, 9 but not limited, to the employment relationship and the vendor-customer 10 relationship); and

11 b. The material being produced would be considered confidential material 12 of the Designating Party under Section 2.1 of this Agreement if it were in the 13 possession of the Designating Party.

14 5.5 Upon notice of designation, all persons receiving notice of the 15 requested designation of materials shall:

16 5.5.1 Make no further disclosure of such Designated Material or 17 information contained therein, except as allowed in this Protective Order;

18 5.5.2 Take reasonable steps to notify any persons known to have 19 possession of or access to such Designated Materials of the effect of such 20 designation under this Protective Order; and

21 5.5.3 If “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – 22 ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” material or information contained therein is 23 disclosed to any person other than those entitled to disclosure in the manner 24 authorized by this Protective Order, the party responsible for the disclosure shall, 25 immediately upon learning of such disclosure, inform the Designating Party in 26 writing of all pertinent facts relating to such disclosure, and shall make every 27 effort to prevent further disclosure by the unauthorized person(s).

28

1 6. Manner of Designating Deposition Testimony.

2 6.1 Deposition transcripts and portions thereof taken in this action may 3 be designated as “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – 4 ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” during the deposition or after, in which case the 5 portion of the transcript containing Designated Material shall be identified in the 6 transcript by the Court Reporter as “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY 7 CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY.” The designated testimony 8 shall be bound in a separate volume and marked by the reporter accordingly.

9 6.2 Where testimony is designated during the deposition, the 10 Designating Party shall have the right to exclude, at those portions of the 11 deposition, all persons not authorized by the terms of this Protective Order to 12 receive such Designated Material.

13 6.3 Within thirty (30) days after a deposition transcript is certified by the 14 court reporter, any party may designate pages of the transcript and/or its exhibits 15 as Designated Material. During such thirty (30) day period, the transcript in its 16 entirety shall be treated as “CONFIDENTIAL” (except for those portions 17 identified earlier as “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES 18 ONLY” which shall be treated accordingly from the date of designation). If any 19 party so designates such material, the parties shall provide written notice of such 20 designation to all parties within the thirty (30) day period. Designated Material 21 within the deposition transcript or the exhibits thereto may be identified in 22 writing by page and line, or by underlining and marking such portions
23 “CONFIDENTIAL,” “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES
24 ONLY” and providing such marked-up portions to all counsel.

25 7. Copies. All complete or partial copies of a document that disclose 26 Designated Materials shall be subject to the terms of this Protective Order.

27 8. Court Procedures.

28 8.1 Disclosure of Designated Material to Court Officials. Subject to the provisions of this section, Designated Material may be disclosed to the Court, Court officials or employees involved in this action (including court reporters, persons operating video recording equipment at depositions, and any special master, referee, expert, technical advisor or Third-Party Consultant appointed by the Court), and any interpreters interpreting on behalf of any party or deponent. The assigned judicial officer will determine how Designated materials will be handled at trial or in pretrial proceedings.

8.2 Filing Designated Materials with the Court. Nothing in this Order shall vary the requirements for filing under Seal imposed by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or the Local Rules of this Court. If a party wishes to file with the Court any document, transcript or thing containing information which has been designated “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY” the Party shall designate the material as set forth herein and file it with the Court in an application for filing under seal under the Local Rules of this Court, with the material bearing the legend:

“[CONFIDENTIAL, or HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY] INFORMATION SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER.”

The Application for Filing under Seal must show good cause for the under seal filing. Filing the document under seal shall not bar any party from unrestricted use or dissemination of those portions of the document that do not contain material designated “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY.” If a filing party fails to designate information as “CONFIDENTIAL,” or “HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS’ EYES ONLY,” any party who in good faith believes that designation and filing under seal is required by this Protective Order may move the Court to file said information under seal within five (5) days of learning of the defective filing. Notice of such designation shall be given to all parties. Nothing in this provision relieves a party of liability for damages caused by failure to properly file Designated Material

1 under seal.

2 8.3 Retrieval of Designated Materials. The party responsible for lodging 3 or filing the Designated Materials shall be responsible for retrieving such 4 Designated Materials from the Court following the final termination of the action 5 (including after any appeals) if the Court so allows.

6 9. Objections

7 9.1 A party may challenge any designation under this Protective Order 8 on the grounds that the information or material does not meet the standards of 9 Sections 1 and 2, by following the procedure of Local Rule 37 of this Court.

10 9.2 The parties shall meet and confer in good faith prior to the filing of 11 any motion under this section.

12 10. Client Communication. Nothing in this Protective Order shall 13 prevent or otherwise restrict counsel from rendering advice to their clients and, in 14 the course of rendering such advice, relying upon the examination of Designated 15 Material. In rendering such advice and otherwise communicating with the client, 16 however, counsel shall not disclose any Designated Material, except as otherwise 17 permitted by this Protective Order.

18 11. No Prejudice.

19 11.1 This Protective Order shall not diminish any existing obligation or 20 right with respect to Designated Material, nor shall it prevent a disclosure to 21 which the Designating Party consented in writing before the disclosure takes 22 place.

23 11.2 Unless the parties stipulate otherwise, evidence of the existence or 24 nonexistence of a designation under this Protective Order shall not be admissible 25 for any purpose during any proceeding on the merits of this action.

26 11.3 If any party required to produce documents contends that it 27 inadvertently produced any Designated Material without marking it with the 28 appropriate legend, or inadvertently produced any Designated Material with an

1 incorrect legend, the producing party may give written notice to the receiving 2 party or parties, including appropriately stamped substitute copies of the 3 Designated Material. If the parties collectively agree to replacement of the 4 Designated Material, then the documents will be so designated. Within five (5) 5 business days of receipt of the substitute copies, the receiving party shall return 6 the previously unmarked or mismarked items and all copies thereof. If the parties 7 do not collectively agree to replacement of the Designated Material, the 8 producing party shall comply with the procedure of Local Rule 37 in seeking 9 protection for the inadvertently produced material.

10 11.4 Neither the provisions of this Protective Order, nor the filing of any 11 material under seal, shall prevent the use in open court, in deposition, at any 12 hearing, or at trial of this case of any material that is subject to this Protective 13 Order or filed under seal pursuant to its provisions. At deposition, the party using 14 Designated Material must request that the portion of the proceeding where use is 15 made be conducted so as to exclude persons not qualified to receive such 16 Designated Material. At trial, the party using Designated Material must request 17 that the portion of the proceeding where use is made be conducted so as to 18 exclude persons not qualified to receive such Designated Material. All 19 confidentiality designations or legends placed pursuant to this Stipulated 20 Protective Order shall be removed from any document or thing used as a trial 21 exhibit in this case unless the Court orders otherwise. Upon request of a party, 22 the parties shall meet and confer concerning the use and protection of Designated 23 Material in open court at any hearing. Prior to the pretrial conference, the parties 24 shall meet and confer concerning appropriate methods for dealing with 25 Designated Material at trial.

26 11.5 Any inadvertent production of documents containing privileged 27 information shall not be deemed to be a waiver of the attorney-client privilege, 28 work product doctrine, or any other applicable privilege or doctrines. All parties

1 specifically reserve the right to demand the return of any privileged documents 2 that it may produce inadvertently during discovery if the producing party 3 determines that such documents contain privileged information. After receiving 4 notice of such inadvertent production by the producing party, the receiving party 5 agrees to make reasonable and good faith efforts to locate and return to the 6 producing party all such inadvertently produced documents.

7 8 12. Modification and Survival.

9 12.1 Modification. The parties reserve the right to seek modification of 10 this Protective Order at any time for good cause. The parties agree to meet and 11 confer prior to seeking to modify this Protective Order for any reason. The 12 restrictions imposed by this Protective Order may only be modified or terminated 13 by written stipulation of all parties or by order of this Court. Parties entering into 14 this Protective Order will not be deemed to have waived any of their rights to 15 seek later amendment to this Protective Order.

16 12.2 Trial. The parties understand that this Protective Order does not 17 extend to trial of this Action. Once the case proceeds to trial, all of the 18 information that was designated as confidential and/or kept and maintained 19 pursuant to the terms of this Protective Order becomes public and will be 20 presumptively available to all members of the public, including the press, unless 21 good cause is shown to the district judge in advance of the trial to proceed 22 otherwise.

23 12.3 Survival and Return of Designated Material. This Protective Order 24 shall survive termination of this action prior to trial of this action. Upon final 25 termination of the action prior to trial of this action, and at the written request 26 of the Designating Party, all Designated Material, including deposition 27 testimony, and all copies thereof, shall be returned to counsel for the 28 Designating Party (at the expense of the Designating Party) or (at the option

1 and expense of the requesting party) shall be destroyed. Upon request for the 2 return or destruction of Designated Materials, counsel shall certify their 3 compliance with this provision and shall serve such certification to counsel 4 for the Designating Party not more than ninety (90) days after the written 5 request to return or destroy Designated Materials. Counsel who have 6 submitted one or more Certificate(s) prepared pursuant to Section 3 do not 7 need to retain such Certificate(s) past the ninety (90) day period.

8 13. No Contract. The parties do not intend this Protective Order to be 9 construed to create a contract between the parties or between the parties and 10 their respective counsel.

11 14. Court's Retention of Jurisdiction. The Court retains jurisdiction 12 after final termination of the action prior to trial, to enforce this Stipulation.

13 15. Exception for Public Information. Nothing in this Stipulation shall be 14 deemed in any way to restrict the use of documents or information which are 15 lawfully obtained or publicly available to a party independently of discovery in this 16 action, whether or not the same material has been obtained during the course of 17 discovery in the action and whether or not such documents or information have 18 been designated hereunder. However, in the event of a dispute regarding such 19 independent acquisition, a party wishing to use any independently acquired 20 documents or information shall bear the burden of proving independent 21 acquisition.

22 16. Any material designated "CONFIDENTIAL" or "HIGHLY 23 CONFIDENTIAL – ATTORNEYS' EYES ONLY" by a party will be deemed by 24 the Designating Party to this agreement to be authentic and a business record of the 25 Designating Party, and the Designating Party will be precluded from challenging 26 the authenticity of any document so designated at any time during this litigation, 27 including during any necessary collection or appeal proceedings. To the extent that 28 such material is not a business record of the Designating Party and was not created

1 by the Designating Party, the non-producing party for which the material is a 2 business record shall have opportunity to challenge the authenticity of the material 3 so designated.
